Work on plans for the County Fair in October has a temporary suspension because of the absence in Nashville of Hon. J. B. Summers, who is President of the fair association. As soon as he returns from the special session of the legislature, active work will be taken up and pushed till the date of the fair.

Rev. Dorsey Mewborn who was reared at Macon has been the past week the guest of his brother, W. A. Mewborn, at the latter's home near Williston. Mr. Mewborn now lives at Denver and has been a student the past year in the Theological Department of Denver University. While here he has visited friends and relatives in several parts of the county.

Most housewives will welcome the announcement of a reduction in sugar prices [the present week]. One local store is offering granulated sugar at 26 cents per pound this week, while some are still holding it at 30 cents. It is retailing in Memphis, the papers tell us, at 18 cents and promises of even lower prices are made. The next supply of local merchants will likely follow this decline.

An increasing number of citizens are having the weeds in front of their property cut and thereby adding much to the looks of their homes and the adjacent streets. It don't cost each citizen much, the town has not levied taxes for that purpose and has not the funds, sanitation demands that these weeds be cut, and it is up to each household to take care of his part. Wont every one do it?

The Falcon has this week printed catalogs for community fairs to held at several places in the county soon under the direction of County Agent A. A. Pryor, Miss Brasfield, Home Demonstration Agent, and local community clubs. The premium lists are creditable and offer fine inducements to individuals to get together their very best products for these community displays. A list with the dates of each will be given in these columns when completed.

Major-General Jno P. Hickman Commanding the Tennessee Division, United Confederate Veterans, has appointed Hon. J. B. Summers of this city [as an Aide-de Camp on his staff with the rank of Major, an honor coming to him as the son of a Confederate Veteran. Major Summers is now in Nashville attending the special session of the Tennessee Legislature where he is a member of the upper branch, the State Senate.

The Masonic Lodges of this city held their annual barbecue and stew on Wednesday of this week and those who were fortunate enough to be invited tell us that it was a most enjoyable affair, with abundance of good things to eat. Due to the fact that heavy rains fell Tuesday at Joyner's Camp Ground where the affair was to be held, it was held in the new park recently acquired from the N. M. Gibson subdivision, in this city.

After a period of more than two years of service as foreman in the mechanical department of The Falcon office S. S. Wolfe will leave at the end of the present week to accept a position at Florence, Alabama, of like kind. During his services here not once has mail from this office failed to be in the postoffice on time, altho some times it has taken almost an all-night continuous application on his part to get the paper out and ready for the mail.

A local contractor told The Falcon a few days ago that he would begin in a few weeks the erection of a new residence on Somerville street for Mrs. J. M. Jones, so as to have it completed by the end of the present year, at which time Mr. and Mrs. Jones expect to move from his farm west of town to the new residence, which is to be built on Mrs. Jones, lot on Somerville street where the residence burned some years ago according to the information given.

WANTED—Tons of Jimsonleaves, and all kinds of roots and herbs. Cash paid same day goods arrive. Write for price list. E. A. Dobbin & Co., Knoxville, Tennessee. 9-12

Watermelons have been on the market in great abundance here the past two weeks and continue to bring splendid prices. So high are they, in fact, that many people who have enjoyed them as a luxury in past years refuse to pay the price and are doing without. Yet, the market seems good and the supply is about exhausted from day to day. The merchants are not buying as many as usual this year, the most of those offered being sold by the growers direct to the consumer. The crop generally is not extra good, tho a few growers are bringing some good specimens and tell us that yield is good.

R. N. Crane of Somerville Plantation on Wednesday of this week got the first egg from a flock of White Leghorn pullets hatched April 2, last. These pullets were shipped 500 miles as baby chicks, 1100 of them, 200 were dead on arrival and 800 were raised. There were sold 300 cockerels as broilers at 90 cents each and Mr. Crane has 400 of the pullets now about ready to go to producing eggs. This is about the earliest egg production from a set of pullets that has been heard of in this section and it comes, Mr. Crane says, because of his system of feeding the growing chick to develop them rapidly. The writer had the pleasure of seeing the flock when growing and no prettier sight have we ever seen.

All the county officers elected at the recent August election begin the new term on September 1. [The only change said election will make in the official personnel of the county will be the Assessor's office, where S. P. Crawford will succeed J. R. Bradsher who has held the office one term of four years and was not a candidate for a second term. The new County Board of education will be inducted into office on the same date. Three members were re-elected, Wyatt Wilkinson, J. C. Perry, J. D. Hewlett and the new members elected are W. H. Cocke of Galloway and Dr. C. N. Crook of Moscow. The Board will meet here on September 10 a. m. for the purpose of organizing for the new term of two years.

An outbreak of glanders in the horses of the northwestern part of Fayette county this week brought Dr. Gillman here from Jackson, acting for the State Department of Agriculture. Dr. Yates discovered several cases of glanders last week and notified Dr. Jay at Nashville and he sent Dr. Gillman here to assist in diagnosing and handling the disease. Dr. Gillman and Dr. Yates have had three animals killed during the week and have made test of many others and have found several suspicious cases on which they are making further tests. They are making thoro tests in every case and are following up every clue to locate every animal sick with the disease, with the hope of suppressing it without further spread. The veterinarians think the disease was brought to that section last year by an animal bought in Memphis and brought to one of the farms now infected.

Dairy Industry Boosted

The Tennessee Dairy Association held its annual meeting in connection with the Institute and it was largely attended. The progress that Tennessee has made in the last few years in the development of the dairy industry was brought out. Tennessee is the first state of the South in Register of Merit work. Having forty-two herds on this test. It also leads in the number of cow testing associations. With in the past year one Tennessee cow has broken a production record for the South and two have broken State records. It was pointed out that the State is now one of the leading dairy States of the country and that the industry is putting thousands of dollars in the pockets of the farmers each year.

Thursday, following the adjournment of the Institute a sale of purebred Aberdeen-Angus was conducted at the Columbia Stock Yards. The sale was very satisfactory, measuring up to expectations in view of the present condition of unrest and uncertainty in all lines of industry. That Tennessee farmers are deeply interested in producing better cattle was demonstrated by the way they took to the animals offered in this sale, most of them going to farmers to head small grade herds, the object being to grade up the herds. More interest than usual was also shown in the discussion of feeding and management of cattle in connection with the regular program of the Institute.

EVER BILIOUS?

Charleston, Miss.—Mrs. R. V. Heins, of this place, says: "I have never had to use very much medicine, because if I felt headache, dizziness, or colds, bad taste in the mouth, which comes from torpid liver, I would take a dose or more of Black-Draught, and it would straighten me out and make me feel as good as new. We have used in our family for years and it certainly is the best liver medicine I ever saw. It has not only saved me money, it has helped keep my system in shape, and has never weakened me as so many physics do. I recommend it to my friends and am glad to do so." Black-Draught is the old, reliable liver medicine which you have doubtless heard much about. When you feel badly all over, stomach not right, bad taste in your mouth, bilious, or have a headache, try Thedford's Black-Draught. At all Druggists.
